finest ever published. Wait for it.

For the removal of dandruff and for curing humors of the scalp, there is nothing better than Ayer's Hair Vigor.

The Bible class of the M. E. Church, South, will meet to-morrow evening in the study of that church and a full attendance is desired.

REMEMBER that a fine suit of furniture will be given away at the Opera-house on Saturday night. You get a chance on it every night you attend.

The residences, together with their contents, belonging to James C. Richard and William Newman near Manchester, were burned Wednesday. Loss about $3,000. Partly insured.

GEORGE M. ADAMS and wife have gone to Augusta where they have organized a home talent company. They will produce "The Factory Girl" there for the benefit of the K. of P. Lodge.

This beautiful Silver Gold Lined Tea Set in Ballenger's window would be a decided bargain at the price to which it has been marked down. It is the very best quality, and the price for native set to-day is $22. If not sold to-day the price to-morrow will be $31 and the price will be reduced $1 every day until it is sold.

entire acreage of the state, were produced 43,729,393 bushels."The San Francisco Examiner says:
"Bill Nye talks as he writes—jogging sloppily and leisurely about on serious sentences and then suddenly upsetting on a solid joke. Sometimes he varies the style to the climax by throwing in quaint remarks or comic comparisons, but the embellishments are always effective and always give a high coloring to the point of his story. But by way down deep in Nye's funny remarks is a touch of human-nature always. That is the reason he has been a humorist so long." Every man, woman and child in Mason county should turn out and hear this eminent lecturer at the Washington Opera-house next Thursday evening.

IT WILL BE ALL RIGHT.

Extensive are the preparations being made for the celebration in this city by Limestone Lodge No. 36, of the thirty first anniversary of Pythianism.The committee in charge are J. W.
Lee, J. C. Hays, J. C. Love, George H.
Martin, Leann Purcell, W. T. Martin, H. Ficklin, George Ort and J. F. Thompson.
Nothing that will make the affair a success will be left undone.The date is next Monday evening and the place of celebration is Neptune Hall.Very beautiful and tasteful are the invitations being received by many in the city, and from one of them we glean the fact that the order of the evening will be music, dancing, and last, but not least, collation.If you are fortunate to get one of these work of organizing a baseball league to include this city and the neighboring cities is progressing finely. Mayville, Fronton and Chillicothe have already made arrangements for teams, and the Huntington and Charleston clubs have been reorganized for the season. On next Wednesday the representatives from the various cities will meet at Fronton, where an organization will be made. It will probably be called the Tri-State League."An old case is recalled by the following item from The Huntington Herald: "Captain H. M. Mitchell went down to Winchester, Ky., Tuesday to assist in defending two suits against the C. and O. road for damages. About four years ago, when the Captain was a Conductor on the C. and O., he had occasion to put several timbers off his train at Winchester because they refused to pay their fare. In doing this a couple of the men were somewhat unnecessarily disfigured, and two of them sued the railroad company about a year later, one placing his damages at $3,000 and the other at $2,500.

It is expected the hearing of the case will occupy some days."Merchants, what they term "Tackey Socials," and everyone sees which can dress the worst.

Each person tries to see how outlandish they can get themselves up, and the one who is the least successful is awarded a prize.
At one of these socials at Ashland recently one of the most appropriate suits was worn by a young man from Callettsburg.
It was trimmed throughout with tacks, the points coming through and projecting so that no one could approach him without some danger, while his tie was set off by some brass tacks and his hat border was similarly trimmed. But the prize was awarded to one of South Point's most stylish and handsome young ladies. This was Miss Lizzie Davidson, who succeeded in well on this occasion of looking a "genuine tackey." These socials are usually for the benefit of the church, and they always prove both pleasant and profitable.PAUL KADYAN will be the attraction at in charge of Conductor T. J. Fisher and Engineer Cass Thornburg made the run from Russell to Handley in 3 hours and 30 minutes. This is the fastest time ever made by a freight over that territory.RESIDENTS in West End are sometimes alarmed at the number of Weyr Wilkins and Duty Roads and Wandering Wilkes that swoop down on them in these good Cleveland times. Nearly every freight train that stops at the C. and O. Station has a full equipment of tramps stowed away in the running stock. Generally, however, they are very well behaved and depart after being given something to eat.

It would be a stony heart that could deny them an appeal for food, whether it came from man or beast.

A Sad Ending.

Harry F. Turner died at the infirmary in Richmond on Tuesday, February 14th, after several days of intense suffering.
He had been running down morally and physically for some time. He had a severe apoplexy which he severely bit his tongue. The body was taken to Paris.Harry Turner was a man of ability, an excellent young lawyer, well educated, and possessed a wonderful tact for mixing with the people. Had he gone earnestly to work he would have made his mark. For a time he was attorney for the K. C. Railroad, and had a good beginning in practice. He was a native of Fleming county, but had lived in Richmond for ten or fifteen years.He was well known in Mayville and had many warm friends who will regret to hear of his death.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

Was the Hamilton-Bridges Ceremony Last Night.The wedding of Waldo Hamilton and Miss Nina Duke Bridges was performed last night at the residence of the bride's father on East Second street.The officiating clergyman was Rev. E.
B. Calk, Pastor of the Christian Church, and the ceremony was as beautiful as it was impressive.About thirty-five invited guests were present and many were the compliments passed as to the beauty of both the bride and the groom.Miss Bridges looked exceedingly handsome in a plain white dress, ruffled basque and puff sleeves, while the groom was dressed in conventional black.A most sumptuous repast was served after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs.
Hamilton went off on a late boat for Gallipolis, where they will visit for several days.They have the best wishes of THE Then Will the Two Dollar a Day Men Go Home.The Grand Jury are still in session.

Yesterday quite a number of prominent men were summoned before them to tell us they ever knew about gambling of any nature.But the boys were posted, and little satisfaction was gained by the Honorable Jury.The first one who went before the jury yesterday morning was asked this question: "Did you ever see John Smith play poker?"The witness replied: "I refuse to answer that question; it would only criminate myself."Grand Jury—"Did you ever see John Smith at any chicken fight in the state?"Witness—"I refuse to answer on the same grounds."G. J.—"Did you ever see John Smith gambling in any way?"

G. J.—"Again I refuse to answer."

G. J.—"Do you know that by refusing to answer our questions that we can send you to jail and keep you there until you do answer them? Now, young man, the best thing you can do is to tell all you know on this matter, and we will be lenient with you. Can you and will you not answer those questions?"W.—"Gentlemen, I can answer those questions, but refuse to give any testimony that would only go towards criminating myself, and should I answer any one of those three questions that is just exactly what it would do. Again, I repeat, I refuse to answer your questions."Then the two-dollar-a-day gentlemen got mad. Oh, they were furious! And then sent to Judge Harrison for his opinion, and they got it—where the chicken got the axe.The Judge replied that the young man need not answer any question that would lead to place him in a self-incriminating position, and further that such questions on the part of the Grand Jury were highly improper.And the young man didn't answer the questions.After the jury had asked their questions about whether or not he knew of any young men keeping company with improper characters or whether he knew of any carrying concealed weapons, they dismissed him.The jury didn't seem to realize that all the young men would do the same, so because summing up a day, and from 9 o'clock (that's the time the two-dollar-a-day men go to work) in the morning until last night they kept examining witnesses, but it all resulted just like witness No. 1.The jury are a little dismayed, but they are keeping it up with a hope, and from 9 o'clock (that's the time the two-dollar-a-
last night they kept examining witnesses, but it all resulted just like witness No. 1.But fight it out if it takes until spring, gentlemen. Remember, it is the county that's paying you $2 a day, and it fun-dishes you a nice warm fire and a comfortable room.Hold on to your job while you got it.

The memorial of the National Wool Growers' Association laid before the United States Senate is a striking description of the wool industry as it is today. The wool industry is a leading source of wealth in the West, and the wool grower is a man of means. The wool industry is a leading source of wealth in the West, and the wool grower is a man of means. Mr. Pecor remained at the store until about 10 minutes after 9 and Charles Smith, the clerk, entered it again about 10 minutes after 10. He had been to the Opera house when C. T. Hillary came after him to get a prescription filled for a sick member of his household.

The police are giving the case close attention and while no arrests have been made as yet some very important ones may be expected before nightfall.

The intruders must certainly have been in the house when Mr. Smith arrived, as a noise was heard by that gentleman when he returned, and the store had not been void of occupants over an hour at most.

A Washington Man Has Invented an Automatically Returnable Rain Shield. Another long-felt want is about to be filled. Drawings for the invention were received at the patent office only a few days ago, and the man, who, by the way, is a Washingtonian, is preparing to build him a new house in the most fashionable part of the city with the prospective funds from this invention.

It is nothing less than an automatically returnable umbrella. That is, one that will make its own arrangements for its return to its owner when lost. The nomadic habit of umbrellas, especially when left unattended, has long been a subject of comment, and it has been a serious question whether the trouble were altogether with the owner of the umbrella, that would go off and lose itself, or an innate depravity of the umbrellas-using public that made endings keepings without inquiry as to the identity of the loser. The new, non-loseable umbrella does not differ essentially from the ordinary article, says the Washington Post, except that it has a little stouter handle. Herein is concealed the working part of the device. It is a compactly arranged phonograph, with a multiplying reverberator, enabling it to be heard for, say, the length of a street car or in a good-sized hallway. In connection with the phonograph is a combination lock which sets the machine for action. The owner of the umbrella on setting it down simply switches in the combination, and as soon as it is picked up the phonograph gets in its work. The remarks can be arranged according to the taste in oratory of the man who owns the umbrella and can range from a politely concealed request not to disturb the rain protector to a stentorian cry of "Stop, thief," or "This fellow is stealing another man's umbrella," or any other exclamation of a more forcible nature, the strength of the language being only limited by the local municipal ordinances regarding loudness.
